“MOVING MIDWAY” MAKES ITS INTERNATIONAL BOW AT SICILY’S
TAORMINA FILM FEST

Godfrey Cheshire’s Moving Midway will have its first showing outside the U.S. at the legendary Taormina Film Fest in Sicily on June 19 and 20, 2009.

Now in its 55th year, Taormina is one of Europe’s premiere summer festivals, drawing audiences and film people from around the Mediterranean region.

Many of the festival’s showings are held in a 2,300-year-old Greek amphitheater perched on a hillside between the Mediterranean and Mt. Etna.

“It is known as a spectacularly beautiful place, and of course I’m delighted to have the film play in a land associated with such cinematic epics as The Godfather and The Leopard,” said Cheshire.

This year, the festival will show films in several cities besides Taormina, and Cheshire will tour some of those sites before arriving in Taormina for Moving Midway’s showings on the festival’s final two days.
